intended to treat ADHD; however, some patients sell or give pills to their peers and some patients feign ADHD.

So, I've gone almost 6 days without it (I take it at night time).

The most frequently occurring expense deductions are for medical, burial, and educational expenses.